

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Are you ready for the phone interview?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How do you feel about talking on the phone in English? Why?
- What are some ways to prepare for a phone interview?

Can Do Statements

- I can use proper intonation in finished and unfinished ideas.
- I can discuss future plans.
- I can talk about events and experiences related to jobs.

Let's Explore!

Adam has a phone interview. How does it go*?

* When you ask "How did it go?" you ask someone's impressions about how it was.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Ms. Allen: Hello, is this Adam Bari?
- Adam: Yes it is.
- Ms. Allen: Hello, Adam. This is Julia Allen calling from Never Odd Or Even.
- Adam: Oh yes, I'm leaving for my interview shortly. Is there a problem?
- Ms. Allen: No, Mr. Bari. You will have to start with a phone interview. If that goes well, we will invite you to our offices to meet the director in person.
- Adam: Oh, but I just bought a great tie.
- Ms. Allen: Well, I'm sure you'll have the opportunity to wear it to the second interview. Are you ready for the phone interview, Mr. Bari?
- Adam: Ummm ... yes, I guess so. I was going to comb my hair ...
- Ms. Allen: Under the circumstances, that doesn't appear necessary. Could you describe your professional experiences for me please?
- Adam: Sure. Most of my experience comes from working on the campus newspaper. Next month, I will have volunteered there for over two years.
- Ms. Allen: Could you tell me what you do there?
- Adam: With pleasure. Over the past two years, I have performed a variety of tasks. I was a copy editor and proofreader, and I wrote an editorial once a month. Now, I sell advertising space to local businesses.
- Ms. Allen: As web content editor, you will help us think of interesting ideas for stories. Could you tell me about the issues you covered?
- Adam: I'd love to. I wrote a lot of editorials related to student life at the college.
- Ms. Allen: Could you give me some examples?
- Adam: Absolutely. Let's see ... Oh yes, I wrote an article about what people thought the new student center should be called. I suggested the name Humpty Dumpty Place.
- Ms. Allen: Ohhh ... Did you say Humpty Dumpty Place?
- Adam: Yes, I thought it was funny at the time, but they chose the name Thomas Dudley Pavillion instead. He was the founder of Cambridge.
- Ms. Allen: That seems to be a logical choice.
- Adam: I suppose so. Logic hasn't always been my forte.

Let's Practice!

What will I be doing at the new job?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence.

1. I'm / for / my / shortly / interview / . / leaving

2. phone / with / a / . / start / interview / You / will

3. Well, / the / have / the / wear / interview / you'll / I'm / it / second / opportunity / . / sure / to / for

4. there / two / volunteered / have / over / for / Next / month, / I / years / . / will

Let's Practice!

What does Ms. Allen ask Adam? How does he respond?

Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank

Sure / Could you describe / Absolutely / You tell me about / With pleasure / Could you tell me

Ms. Allen: _____ your professional experiences for me please?

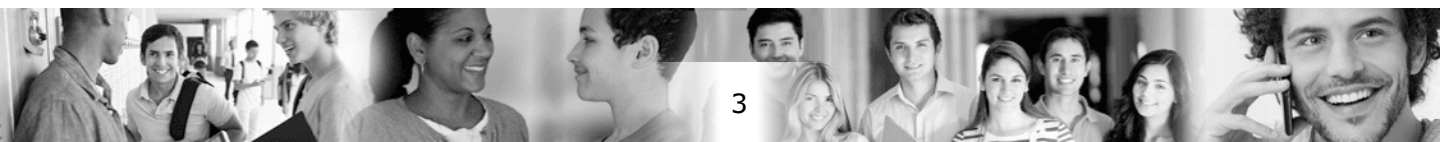

Adam: _____. Most of my experience comes from working on the campus newspaper.

Ms. Allen: _____ what you do there?

Adam: _____.

Ms. Allen: Could _____ the issues you covered?

Adam: _____.

Extension Activity

Practice talking on the phone.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Create a situation with a partner where one of you is a hiring manager at a company and the other is a potential employee.
- The hiring manager should write down 5 questions to ask the potential employee.
- The potential employee should write down 5 things to talk about related to past work experience.
- The hiring manager calls the potential employee and conducts a phone interview.
- Practice the interview three times.
- Share what you thought went well and what you can work on for next time.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I practice being either a hiring manager or a potential employee.

☐ ☐

I practice talking on the phone in English.

☐ ☐

I share what I thought went well and how to improve.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- director (noun): the person in charge of a department or a company e.g. If that goes well, we will invite you to our offices to meet the director in person.
- forte (noun): a personal strength
e.g. Logic hasn't always been my forte.
- editorial (noun): a short article giving the official opinion of a publication on a certain topic e.g. I was a copy editor and proofreader, and I wrote an editorial once a month.
- advertising space (noun): parts of a publication reserved for businesses to advertise
e.g. Now, I sell advertising space to local businesses.
- issue (noun): a social problem or situation
e.g. Could you tell me about the issues you covered?

Learning Points

The Future Perfect Tense

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about something that will be complete by a certain time in the future.

When you use the Future Perfect, you often refer to a time period (next month, tomorrow, this afternoon, by Friday).

For example:

Do you think you will have completed the report by Friday?

You often use the preposition by with the Future Perfect. By means no later than or can suggest the idea of progress up to a particular time.

Look at the chart for the form of the Future Perfect:

subject	will + have + past participle
I	will have volunteered	there for over two years.
My colleague	will have finished	training the new employees.

Examples:

- Next month, I will have volunteered there for over two years.
- Tomorrow, I will have been off work for three weeks.
- This afternoon, my colleague will have finished training the new employees.
- Do you think you will have completed the report by Friday?

Learning Points

Intonation of Finished and Unfinished Ideas

Intonation tells us a lot about how someone feels and whether they have completed their thoughts or not. It is important to listen carefully to the rise and fall of people's voices.

Being able to listen for intonation is especially important when you are speaking on the phone.

In English, there are three intonation patterns:

1. Rising
2. Falling
3. Partial Falling

You should use falling intonation at the end of a thought group or sentence to tell the listener that you are finished with that statement.

For example:

Under the circumstances, that doesn't appear necessary. ↘

Likewise, your pitch will only partially fall at the end of a thought group to: give the listener's brain time to "digest" the speech; and tell the listener that you are not finished speaking.

For example:

I was going to comb my hair ...

You use rising intonation at the end of a yes/no question.

For example:

Did you say Humpty Dumpty Place? ↗

Examples:

- Let's see... Oh yes, I wrote an article about what people thought the new student center should be called. I suggested the name Humpty Dumpty Place.
- Ohhh.... Did you say Humpty Dumpty Place?
- Ummm.... yes, I guess so. I was going to comb my hair ...
- This is Julia Allen calling from Never Odd Or Even.
- That seems to be a logical choice.

