

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: I am writing to express my sincere thanks ...

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you ever write thank you notes?
Why or why not?
- If you were asked to write a thank you note right now, who would you thank?
Why?

Can Do Statements

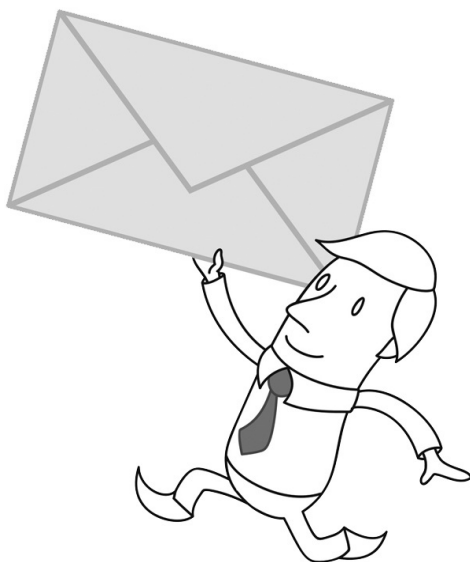

- I can write about future plans.
- I can report what someone had previously said in a written way.
- I can write a thank you note.

Let's Explore!

Writing Spot: It's time to write a thank you note!

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Kristi: How did the interview go, Adam?

Adam: It went well. They asked me if I wanted a job with benefits.

Kristi: That would be cool.

Adam: I'm going to send a thank you letter. Can you read it and tell me what you think?

Kristi: Sure I'll do that, but do you really think it's necessary?

Adam: A lot of hiring experts think it is. It shows you are polite and demonstrates your interest in the position.

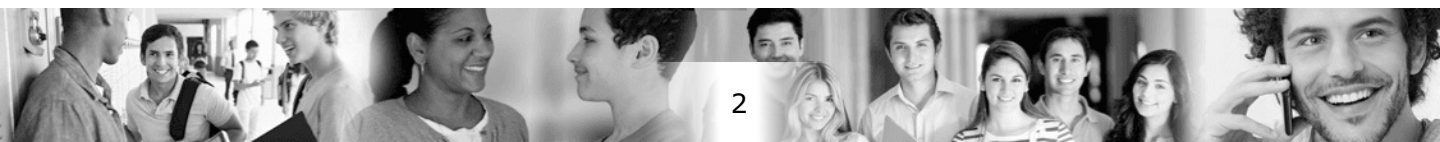

Kristi: Really?

Adam: Yes. According to a survey I read, 75% of interviewers said that receiving a thank you letter from a candidate affects their decision-making process.

Kristi: When should you send it?

Adam: They said a thank you letter was best sent by e-mail within 24 hours of the interview, while they're still thinking about you. That's why I'm sending it this evening.

Kristi: I have an interview next week. I'll write one too. Go ahead.

Let's Practice!

What did Mr. Mitchell say?

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank

his boss would / they were looking for / you wanted / if I wanted

1. Do you want a job with benefits?

They asked me _____ a job with benefits.

2. We are looking for an employee who is a strong team player.

They mentioned _____ an employee who is a strong team player.

3. I want someone who is dynamic and self-motivated.

You said _____ someone who is dynamic and self-motivated.

4. My boss will be at the meeting.

He said _____ be at the meeting.

Let's Practice!

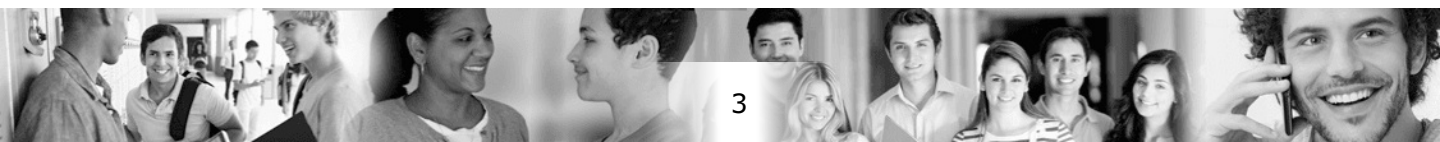

Adam plans to write a thank you note. What will* he include?

*The modal "will" is used to talk about the future.

Instructions: Read and circle the correct words to complete the sentences.

Dear Mr. Mitchell,

I am writing to express my sincere thanks / tanks / thank you for taking the time to speak with me yesterday about the position of Web Content Editor at your simulation / publication / situation . I hope I was able to answer all of your questions to your utmost / sophistication / satisfaction / satisfy . I truly enjoyed learning about the roll / pole / role and the company.

Extension Activity

Choose the best thank you note on the Internet.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online. Find 5 sample thank you notes.
- Read the notes. Look up any new words you do not know.
- With a partner, discuss which is the best thank you note. Does it follow the correct structure? Does it use formal language? It is clear polite?
- Put the thank you notes in order from #1 (best) to #5 (worst).
- Discuss ways the worse thank you note (#5) could be improved.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I read a variety of thank you notes.

☐ ☐

I discuss the structure and quality of thank you notes.

☐ ☐

I suggest possible improvements to thank you notes.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- interviewer (noun): the person in a company who conducts an interview
e.g. According to a survey I read, 75% of interviewers said that receiving a thank you letter from a candidate affects their decision-making process.
- hiring expert (noun): a person who knows a great deal about how to get a job e.g. Well, according to a lot of hiring experts, it is.
- survey (noun): a series of answers to questions that are compiled to give an overall view of a situation
e.g. According to a survey I read, 75% of interviewers said that receiving a thank you letter from a candidate affects their decision-making process.
- your utmost satisfaction (expression): in a manner that you are completely happy with e.g. I hope I was able to answer all of your questions to your utmost satisfaction.
- decision-making process (expression): the time spent considering, then making a selection
e.g. Receiving a thank you letter from a candidate can affect the decision-making process.

Learning Points

Reported Speech and Questions

You use reported speech when you are saying (reporting) what other people have said or asked.

When you tell people what someone has said in the past, you generally make the verb tense 'more in the past'. You need to change the verb to the next past form.

For example:

Direct speech	Reported speech
"I like him."	He said he liked him.
"I' m coming to the party."	He said he was coming .
"I already ate ."	He said he had already eaten.

When you want to report questions asked and the question is a yes/no questions, you use if or whether to report it.

They asked me if/whether I wanted a job with benefits.

For a sentence in the future tense using will, you use would in reported speech.

Look at the chart below for the structure of reported speech and questions.

Statement/Question	Reported Speech
We are looking for an employee who is a strong leader.	You mentioned you were looking for an employee who was a strong team player.
We want someone dynamic and self-motivated.	You said you wanted someone who was dynamic and self-motivated.
Do you want a job with benefits?	They asked me if I wanted a job with benefits.
I will come to the meeting.	He said he would come to the meeting.

Learning Points

The Future with Will, Going to, the Present Continuous and the Simple Present Tenses

You can use four different tenses to talk about the future. Each of them has their own use and structure.

You use the modal will when you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future.

For example:

Sure I'll read it and let you know what I think.

You use be going to when you ask or talk about intentions.

For example:

I'm going to send a thank you letter.

You use the Present Continuous tense when you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future.

For example:

That's why I'm sending it this evening.

You use the Simple Present when you talk about schedules.

For example:

I have an interview next week.

