

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What will you be wearing to your interview?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can make and respond to a request.
- I can discuss future plans.
- I can answer a formal e-mail.

Ask your partner:

- How confident are you about writing a formal e-mail in English?
- What are some things you should consider when writing a formal e-mail?
- What are some things you should consider when preparing for a job interview?

Let's Explore!

Adam shares exciting news with Kristi.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Kristi: Hey, Adam! Any news about the job application?

Adam: Hi, Kristi! Yes, I just got an e-mail. I'm meeting them next week.

Kristi: That's great!

Adam: The interview is next Wednesday. Listen to this!

Dear Mr. Bari,

Thank you for expressing interest in the position of Web Content Editor at our publication Never Odd Or Even. Your resumé demonstrates that you have the appropriate educational background and qualifications for this position.

We would like to invite you for an interview on Wednesday, January 22nd. The selection committee will be ready to talk to you at 10:00 a.m. At that time, we would request that you provide the names of three people who can attest to your professional skills. We would also like you to elaborate on your volunteer experience at the campus newspaper. If possible, could you please prepare a portfolio of the work you completed in the past?

Could you please confirm your attendance at your earliest convenience?

Yours sincerely,

Frank Mitchell

Kristi: That's great! Congratulations! Have you responded yet?

Adam: Yes, I just sent this e-mail:

Dear Mr. Mitchell,

Thank you very much for this opportunity to have an interview with you. I would be happy to meet with you on January 22nd at 10:00 a.m. It would be my pleasure to bring the names of three references. I appreciate the chance to discuss how my background and education are suited to the position. I would be proud to show you examples of my writing. I look forward to meeting you in person.

Yours truly,

Adam Bari

Kristi: That's so exciting! What are you going to wear?

Adam: I will be wearing a grey jacket and tie I bought.

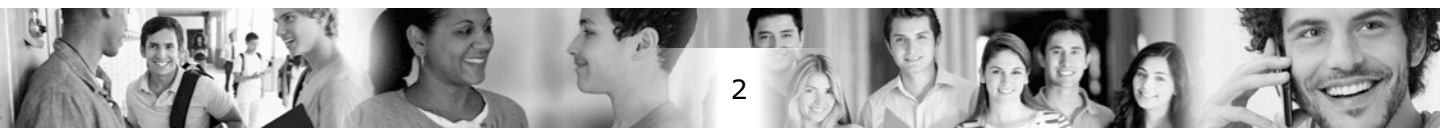

Kristi: Oh, I wouldn't wear the grey jacket. Why don't you wear your black suit?

Adam: I will have worn that suit two times before.

Kristi: That's fine. It's in great condition.

Adam: OK, I'm going to wear my light blue shirt.

Kristi: Good choice!

Let's Practice!

We have some requests for you!

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B.

COLUMN A

1. We would like to invite you for an interview on Wednesday, January 22nd.
2. We would request that you provide the names of three people who can attest to your professional skills.
3. We would also like you to elaborate on your volunteer experience at the campus newspaper.
4. Could you please prepare a portfolio of the work you completed in the past?

COLUMN B

- a. I truly appreciate this opportunity to discuss my professional background.
- b. I would be proud to show you examples of my writing.
- c. I would be happy to meet you.
- d. It would be my pleasure to bring the names of three references.

Let's Practice!

Do you like Adam's response to Mr. Mitchell's e-mail?

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect word. Write the correct word above to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary.

1. Thank you very much for this opporunity to have an interview with you.
2. I would happy meet with you on January 25th at 10:00 a.m.
3. It would be my plesure bring the names of three references.
4. I appreciat the chance to discuss how my background and education are suited to the position.
5. I look forward to meet you in person.

Extension Activity

Write e-mails making and responding to requests.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, talk about situations in which one person makes formal requests and the other person responds (for example, an interview, a meeting, a presentation, etc.)
- Select one situation and the requests.
- One person writes an e-mail making requests.
- The other person writes an e-mail responding to the requests. Make sure you use formal language.
- Read each e-mail aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about situations where people make formal requests.

☐ ☐

I write an e-mail making or responding to requests.

☐ ☐

I read the e-mails aloud.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- web content editor (noun): the person responsible for writing and publishing information for publications on the internet
e.g. Thank you for expressing interest in the position of Web Content Editor at our publication Never Odd Or Even.
- educational background (noun): the programs of study a person has completed in the past e.g. Your résumé demonstrates that you have the appropriate educational background.
- qualifications (noun): the things a person can do because of their education or specialized training e.g. You have excellent qualifications for this position.
- committee (noun): a group of people who work together on a task to reach a common goal e.g. The selection committee will be ready to talk to you at 10:00 a.m.
- to elaborate (verb): to give more details about something
e.g. We would like you to elaborate on your volunteer experience at the campus newspaper.

Learning Points

Uses of the Future Perfect and Future Continuous Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something that will be in progress at a particular time in the future.

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about something that will be complete by a certain time in the future. This is the past in the future.

You also use the Future Continuous to talk about future events that are decided.

For example:

I'll be wearing a grey jacket and tie. (You have already decided what you will be wearing).

When you use the Future Perfect, you often refer to a time period.

For example:

My internship will have lasted over two months (by then).

Examples:

- I will have worn that suit two times before.
- My internship will have lasted over two months.
- I will be wearing a grey jacket and tie I bought.
- Our business partners will be staying for two weeks.

Learning Points

Modals for Request: Could and Would

The modals would and could make requests more indirect than the modal can.

You use indirect styles of speech and writing in formal situations.

For example:

Could you please confirm your attendance at your earliest convenience?

You often use the structure We would like to ... to make requests in a formal way.

For example:

We would like to invite you for an interview on Wednesday, January 22nd.

These structures are indirect and therefore more polite. It is common to read or hear this type of language in a work setting.

Examples:

- We would like to invite you for an interview on Wednesday, January 22nd.
- At that time, we would request that you provide the names of three people who can attest to your professional skills.
- We would also like you to elaborate on your volunteer experience at the campus newspaper.
- If possible, could you please prepare a portfolio of the work you completed in the past?
- Could you please confirm your attendance at your earliest convenience?

